The Sacred Harp

Sacred Harp („Heilige Harfe“) ist eine Form des Chorgesangs, die ursprünglich aus der geistlichen Liedkunst der amerikanischen Südstaaten stammt. Die Sänger der vier Stimmen stehen oder sitzen einander zugewandt in einem Quadrat (dem „Square“), wobei Sopran und Tenor üblicherweise mit Männer- und Frauenstimmen gemischt besetzt werden.

Since its first session in Atlanta in 1905, the United Sacred Harp Musical Association, commonly known as the United Convention, has affected the form of The Sacred Harp and public consciousness of our traditions. The story of the United Convention—told here through recordings, photos, and more—offers a fascinating perspective on the history of Sacred Harp singing in the twentieth century and beyond.

„The Sacred Harp“ ist der Name des Buches, aus dem wir singen. Vor ca. 160 Jahren wurde es das erste Mal publiziert, in einer Tradition, die noch weit älter ist. „Sacred Harp“ – die heilige Harfe – ist ein Begriff für die menschliche Stimme! Diese Art der Musik wird auch Shape Note Music genannt – Was das heißt, soll im Folgenden erklärt werden. Man nehme sich dazu am besten ...

(The Colored Sacred Harp, by Judge Jackson of Alabama, a Cooper book singer, was published in 1934. It contains shape-note songs composed or arranged by Jackson and other African American singers. This collection has been popularized by Alabama's Wiregrass Singers.) The other revision, arising from White's circle of friends, children, and pupils, came to be called "the Denson book." It began with a 1911 revision chaired by J. S. James of Douglasville. This edition, in turn, was the basis for ...

Themes. As with several songs on Stage Fright, such as the title track, "Daniel and the Sacred Harp" reflects the difficulties the Band was going through at the time of the album's development. The theme of "Daniel and the Sacred Harp" is "a loss of integrity." The lyrics tell a story similar to the Robert Johnson myth. They also have antecedents in the story of Faust.

Sacred Harp singing is a non-denominational community musical event emphasizing participation, not performance. Singers sit facing inward in a hollow square. Each individual is invited to take a turn "leading," i.e. standing in the center, selecting a song, and beating time with the hand. The singing is not accompanied by harps or any other instrument. The group sings from The Sacred Harp ...
